

AXTON TALKS TO THE CONVICTS

He Gives Some Helpful, Hopeful Suggestions.

DUKE AND ROBERTSON LISTEN TO THEIR FIRST PRISON CHAPEL SERVICE.

ATTENDING the state prison chapel services yesterday afternoon were three convicts for whom it was their first Sunday in confinement at the penal institution, and to them Rev. Mr. John T. Axton, conducted the services, specially directed his remarks. The men who had their first experience in sitting through a religious service in prison were Harry Duke and Alexander A. Robertson, the defaulting bank employee of Wells, Fargo & Co., and John R. Hickman, formerly county recorder of Juab county, who has just commenced to serve a year for stealing a couple of range horses. In Hickman's case, as with the other two, it is the story of a good man going wrong. The Rev. Mr. Axton's talks to prisoners are always appreciated by the convicts themselves, and yesterday even more respectful attention was accorded the speaker, whose topic was the reformation of character. The fact that the young minister laid down the proposition that no man is irretrievably lost if he infringes upon the criminal laws of the land. Several apt illustrations were presented, showing that complete reformation comes from yielding penitence to wronged justice. In a manner calculated to encourage the convicts to resolve to start life anew on correct lines after their freedom, Mr. Axton made it clear that in every man's career there is a Dr. Jekyll and a Mr. Hyde, and that it is to each one's power to make his better side completely overcome the evil side. He deplored the fact that for every one of the 399 times a man puts to flight the ghost of temptation he receives no credit from his fellows, while if the temptation conquers but once, the world is too prone to condemn the weakness of the victim. The three new convicts are friends of Mr. Axton, and he seasoned his words of helpful interest in their behalf with the encouragement that all is not lost, so long as the desire to do right is uppermost in their minds. After the chapel services Duke appeared cheerful in the presence of warden, but Robertson and Hickman were much depressed in reflecting upon their embarrassing surroundings. The two black men are adapting themselves to their new duties in the prison, while Hickman is learning shop work. Duke had the good luck yesterday to draw a line in a raffle.

NO MORMON POETS.

Elder Paul Deplores Lack of Literary Men.

Elder J. H. Paul, president of the Latter-day Saints university at the tabernacle yesterday afternoon, deplored the fact that the Mormon people have as yet been unable to produce a writer capable of handling the truths of the church in a poetic present. The speaker admitted the presence of many of brilliant men, but none of them, he claimed, seemed to be able to write in verse. He deplored the fact, except by citing dry allegations of fact. The speaker seemed to find an ideal writer in Ian MacLaren, the novelist, who, he claimed, brought the literature of the Scotch nation far in advance of the other work of that people. Elder Paul took the opportunity to present a view of the situation, pointing out that under the present development of the church, there will arise just such a poet as is needed. Elder B. F. Goddard, who followed, dwelt at great length on the truth of the revelations of Joseph Smith, citing numerous scriptural passages to prove his assertions. As usual, the music numbers developed a treat. The services, which were presided over by President Cannon, opened with the singing of "I'm a Soldier in the Army of the Lord," and "Thank Thee, Oh God, for a Prophet." The invocation was by Elder R. C. Badger, after which the choir sang "Jesus, Once of Humble Birth," and "Nearer, My God, to Thee," and Elder Woolley pronounced the benediction.

SECRET SOCIETIES.

Woodmen of the World.

The three local camps of the Woodmen of the World, Salt Lake camp No. 53, Utah camp No. 333, and Deseret camp No. 406, are making extensive preparations and arranging a program for a reception to be tendered to delegates from Montana, California, Washington, Oregon and Idaho. These delegates, who, with their families, number about 150, will arrive here Thursday morning on their way to the head camp session of the order, which will be held at Crystal Lake, Colo., for several days, beginning on Aug. 2.

While the delegates and their families will only be in the city for a few hours, it is the intention of the local camps to make their stay as pleasant as possible, and while the program is not yet arranged, it has been definitely decided that a trip to Salt Lake will be one of its numbers.

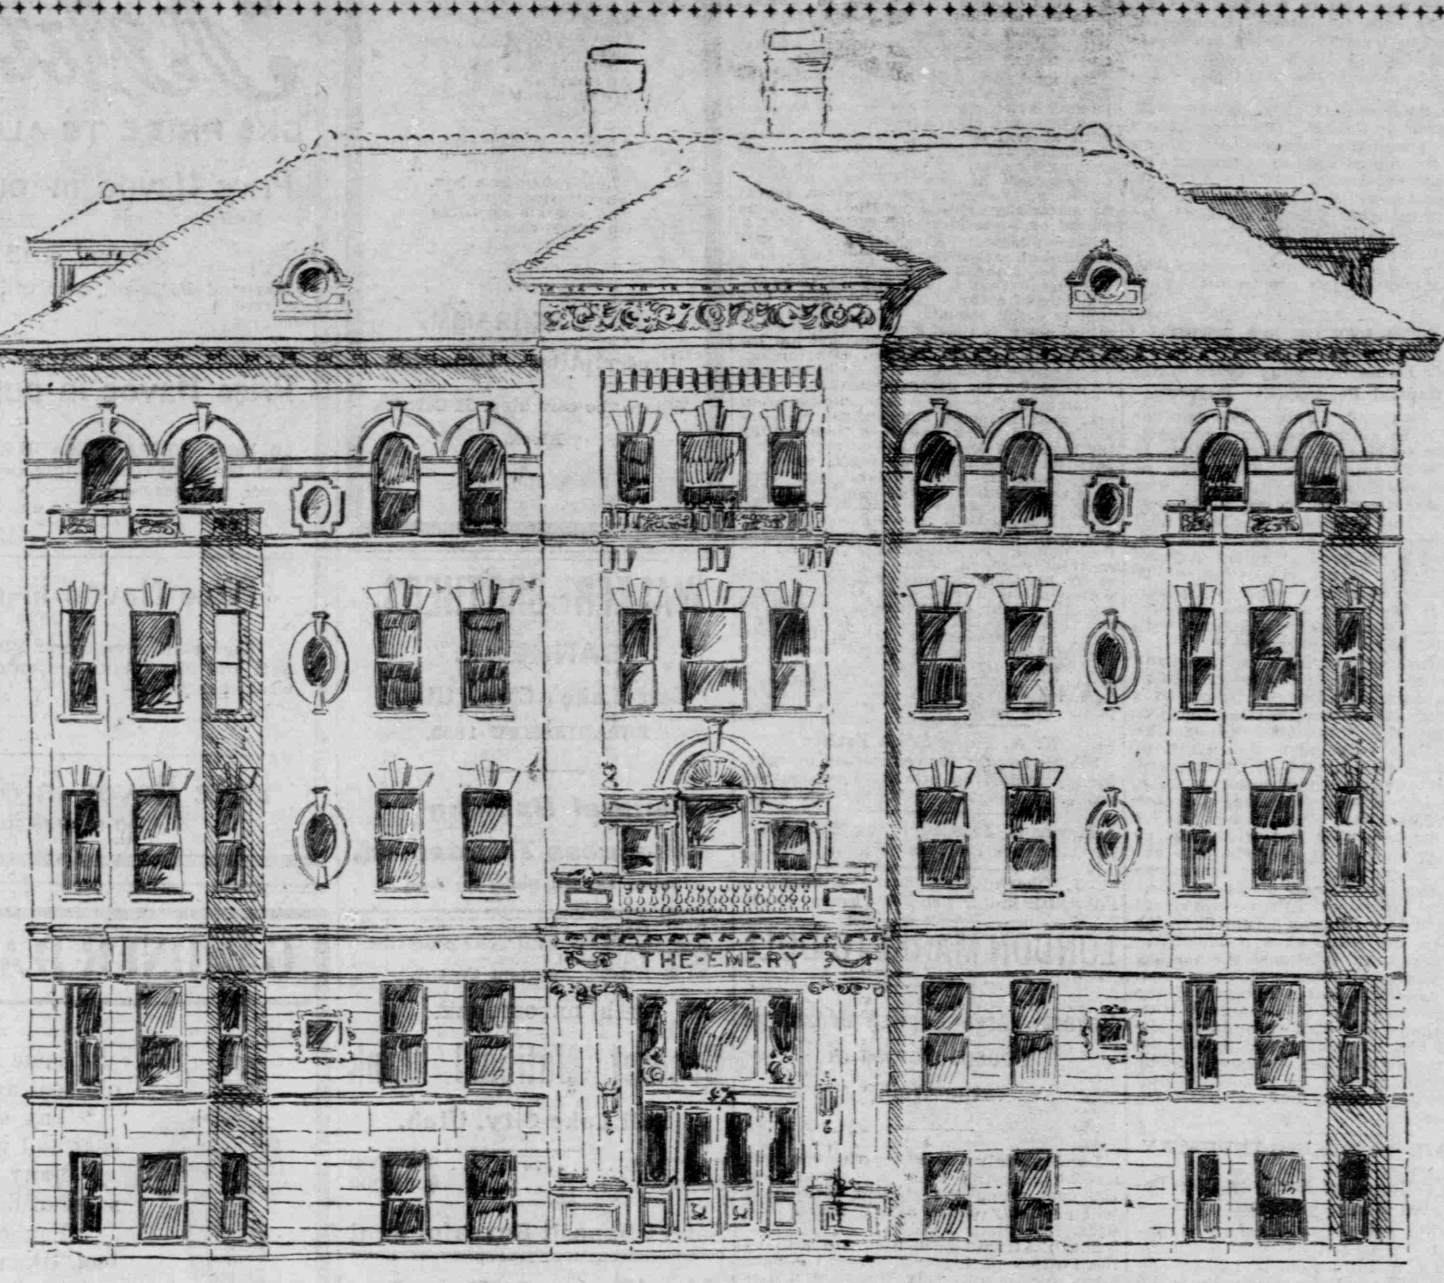

The fourteen camps of Utah will be represented at the head camp session by delegates A. McKellar, T. Whitely and P. P. Christensen, all of this city. McKellar, who has been appointed by Head Consul Falkenberg to one of the most important committees at the forthcoming session, left for Crystal Lake last Thursday night, while Whitely and Christensen will leave with the visiting delegates, after their reception Thursday.

The meeting of Salt Lake camp No. 53 last week was marked by the attendance of a number of visitors, who expressed themselves as thoroughly impressed with the work. After a number of songs and recitations the following officers were installed for the ensuing term by Installation Officer G. B. Blakely: George W. Wood, consul commander; M. Ridges, adviser; Lieutenant; Albert Campbell, escort; E. Mangel, watchman; C. Peterson, secretary; and Ira Davidson, W. W. Decamp and A. S. Watson, managers.

Foresters of America.

Court Salt Lake No. 1 held its regular meeting last Wednesday evening and transacted considerable business. The prize of $100 offered by the grand court to the court making the largest increase in membership in the jurisdiction during the term ending Dec. 31, 1902, was thoroughly discussed. It was decided that if Salt Lake court should win the $100, badges valued at from $2 to $10 would be given to the members

THE NEW EMERY-HOLMES APARTMENT BUILDING.

By this time next year Salt Lake City will possess one of the most magnificent apartment houses to be found in any city in the country. It will be the Emery-Holmes building, situated on the ideal site facing south and west on South Temple and State streets, at the historic Eagle Gate corner. The cost of this improvement, which will be appreciated by many Salt Lake residents, will be between $150,000 and $250,000. For a long time Mrs. Susanah B. Emery-Holmes has felt that Salt Lake needed just such an apartment house, and the determination to expend this large sum of money for the purpose was made by her and her daughter, Miss Louise Grace Emery, is the result of mature deliberation. The original, but smaller, apartment house for Miss Emery on the corner north is so far advanced that it will doubtless be ready for occupancy within the next two months.

As shown in the accompanying illustration, the Emery-Holmes apartment building will be four stories in height above the basement floor. The plans and specifications have been prepared by Architect J. C. Craig, who has devoted several months time to the project. The building will be a masterpiece of modern architecture, with a central entrance, a large hall, and a wide range of rooms. The plan of construction provides for three courts on the west side, and three on the east side. The courts will have a width of nine feet, and this will assure every room and every corner, which would otherwise be darkened, a flood of sunlight and a circulation of pure air. In the center will be the fire escape. So arranged will be the courts that they will afford entrances to the kitchen quarters of each apartment. The first, second and third floors will be arranged in living apartments, eight on each floor. Each apartment will contain a kitchen, dining room, living room or library, two bed chambers, be-bringing in the most candidates. Two candidates were initiated into the mystic of Forestry, and several more applications were received. The members are beginning to realize the necessity of making provisions to entertain the visiting brothers who will come here for the Elks' convention. A step in the right direction was taken at the last meeting, when Brothers Eli B. Kelsey, Frank Sugden and F. Millard were appointed executive committee with power to make sub-committees. The committee will provide refreshments on the 13th of August at the hall, and will notify all members to attend that meeting, when the banquet to be given to the visiting brothers at Salt Lake on "Foresters' day," Aug. 15.

Improved Order of Red Men. Nothing but routine business is transacted by Washakie tribe No. 1 during the heated term and, like all other lodges, the attendance is rather light. The tribe, in conjunction with the degree of Pocahontas, is busily engaged in working up its excursion to Salt Lake on Aug. 8, and if hard work will insure a crowd, this will be one of the most popular outings of the season.

A. O. U. W. Salt Lake Valley lodge No. 12 held no meeting last Thursday night, as it was a holiday, so the boys had a rest, but they will meet on next Thursday night, which will be the last day of the month. There was a splendid attendance of the members of the lodge, and the degree of Honor was conferred on a number of new members. Members of the A. O. U. W. are expected to look out for the meeting of Salt Lake Valley lodge No. 12 on Aug. 7.

Macabees. Utanion Tent No. 12, K. O. T. M., held its regular review at I. O. O. F. hall on Wednesday evening last, three applications for membership were received, and applicants elected to membership. A large amount of committee work was reported, the entertainment committee announcing an outing to Calder's park by the members of the tent and their friends on Thursday, July 11. The social features of the review were made interesting and amusing by the members present.

Ladies of the Macabees. Banner hive No. 11 held a special review last Tuesday afternoon. There were a large number present and an enthusiastic meeting held. Much interest is being awakened in the matter of the first annual outing of the hive has ever given and all indications point to a splendid program, with most beautiful and valuable prizes for this occasion. We wish to invite all Macabees and their friends, as well as the public generally, to join us in this day at the Lagoon, Friday, Aug. 8. A special review will be held Tuesday, 2:30 p. m.

Fraternal Union. The attendance at Evergreen lodge No. 131 was good last Monday evening and an interesting meeting was held. Candidate Harry S. Harper was house construction in the large cities throughout the country. Such perfection has been reached in architectural merits and utilitarian schemes that it is doubtful if there will be any apartment house to be found anywhere which will so nearly approach the ideal.

The Emery-Holmes building will occupy a ground area of 36x178 feet, the broad frontage to be west on State street. The exterior walls will be buff brick, with white stone trimmings. The main entrance will be on South Temple street and State street, and on the south and west sides a wide strip will be laid out in a grassy lawn, while around the north and east sides will be a paved driveway.

The plan of construction provides for three courts on the west side, and three on the east side. The courts will have a width of nine feet, and this will assure every room and every corner, which would otherwise be darkened, a flood of sunlight and a circulation of pure air. In the center will be the fire escape. So arranged will be the courts that they will afford entrances to the kitchen quarters of each apartment. The first, second and third floors will be arranged in living apartments, eight on each floor. Each apartment will contain a kitchen, dining room, living room or library, two bed chambers, be-regularly initiated and admitted to full membership. The degree work was very creditably performed, considering the small amount of practice lately. Owing to the late hour on account of much business, most of the literary program was postponed and will be given this evening, together with a number of additional numbers. The ladies' Evergreen club have discontinued their receptions until cooler weather later in the season.

which will run to the observatory in the tower. The building will be equipped also with an elevator to carry freight.

Each apartment will have a balcony on the front streets or outer sides, and each will have ranges for gas and private ice boxes built into the walls. The Emery-Holmes, with its forty separate apartments, will embody every modern feature contributing to convenience, comfort, elegance and perfect sanitation in an ideal home. The rental charges, stated Mr. Bransford yesterday, will be 25 per cent less than obtains in Denver, while there will be nothing in that city to approach this house for perfection of appointments. Already many of the apartments have been spoken for, and it is not doubted that every one will be leased before the building is completed.

When the building is ready for occupancy both streets upon which it will front will have been paved. Yesterday the contract for the excavating was let to Enoch Smith. The contract calls for the removal of nearly 5,000 cubic yards of earth. It is intended to have the foundation walls in and the brick and stone laid up to or above the first story this fall. No time will be lost to complete the building, but it is not believed that it will be ready for occupancy before a year hence.

HE SWAM IN THE LAKE

Funston Shows How to Cleave the Water—Injured Men Better.

General Funston made his official inspection of quarters at Fort Douglas yesterday morning, shortly after mess, and spent the remainder of the day in recreation.

Accompanied by Colonel Ruby, the general drove out to the Country club after lunch, and after a couple of pleasant hours there, took the train for Salt Lake. General Funston swam the lake for a half-hour, enjoyed the music, then returned to town. Dinner was served at the Alta club to the party, which included the general, Colonel Ruby, Major Wood, Captain Harrison, Captain Winn and Lieutenant Mitchell.

The talk of the post yesterday was the accident of Saturday, during General Funston's review of the troops. The gallantry displayed received the highest commendation. General Funston himself was extremely worried over the accident, deploring the idea that any serious accident should occur on his account; that is, in a review for his benefit.

There is not so much cause for apprehension, however, as was at first supposed, as none of the injured men is seriously hurt. Ridgeway Haynes, whose skull it was feared had been fractured, has almost recovered from the effects of his injury, which was not more serious than a hard rap on the head, which stunned him.

The private, who hurt his ankle, G. T. Burden, has a peculiar case. His ankle is terribly swollen, but he does not experience a particle of pain, and apparently no bones are broken. There are few things more painful than a sprain, and as Burden declares he has no disagreeable sensation in his leg at all, the surgeons are at a loss to describe his hurt. The other men who were in the accident are progressing rapidly, and scarcely find it necessary to remain in the hospital.

Captain James P. Harrison of company A leaves today for a visit to his home in Kentucky. Lieutenants White, Merrill and McConnell have gone to Fort Russell, Wyo., to participate in the target contest.

The Buss Worm Medicine.
H. P. Buss, druggist, Leighton, Ala., writes: "One of my customers had a child, which was sick, and threw up all food, could retain nothing on its stomach. He bought one bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge, and it brought up 113 worms from the child. It's the best worm medicine in the world." White's Cream Vermifuge is also the children's tonic. It improves their digestion and assimilation of food, strengthens their nervous system, and restores them to the health, vigor and elasticity of spirits natural to childhood. 25c, at Z. C. M. I.

POLITICS OF SANPETE

Friends of Jensen and Candland Are Grooming Their Favorites.

Ephraim, July 27.—The Republicans are going to have the biggest kind of a row in their county convention to nominate county officers. There are already candidates enough in the field to fill the offices two or three times, and new aspirants are appearing every day. The fiercest fight is now being waged between the friends of Jensen and Candland. The Candland people are charged with an attempt to work up church influence for the senatorship. Jensen seems to have the best of the fight at present. The Candland people are charged with an attempt to work up church influence for the senatorship. Jensen seems to have the best of the fight at present. The Candland people are charged with an attempt to work up church influence for the senatorship. Jensen seems to have the best of the fight at present.

Little Wales is going to come to the convention with a demand for a place on the ticket. Like the larger towns, she has her factional differences, and will probably come with a split delegation. It is the opinion of the assessors that Wales will not get justice unless Alfred Reese is nominated for recorder. Mountain Green is in the same pickle. She can't get but one place on the ticket, but cannot decide as to the one. Henry Jackson, the present assessor, is a candidate for reelection. He and Herbert Smythe and his friends think he is the proper man for the office. The Candland people are charged with an attempt to work up church influence for the senatorship. Jensen seems to have the best of the fight at present.

SEVENTH DISTRICT COURT.

Judge Johnson Rules Against Officer Acting in Dual Capacity.

Manti, July 27.—The case of Ole C. Jacobsen vs. E. C. Willardson and others was brought to a close yesterday. This was an action in which the plaintiff, an aged man of 73 years, was implicated while the defendants were young men of affairs and ability. Mr. Jacobsen alleged that he had been defrauded in the sum of $300 and interest by defendants through abuse of confidence which plaintiff had in E. C. Willardson, secretary and treasurer of both residents of Ephraim. After hearing the evidence, the court found, first, that one three promissory notes pretended to have been given by the Junction Co-op. were the notes of the defendants, and the reason for the fraud was that the directors of said corporation had been called to consider the matter of issuing the notes of the corporation to plaintiff for the purpose of increasing the value of the estate of E. C. Willardson; but on the contrary, two of the directors of the Co-op. were not notified of the meeting at which the notes were issued, and only learned of the matter from the plaintiff, as stated upon their faces, to-wit: Alfred C. Anderson, secretary and treasurer of the Junction Co-op., and did not receive from said transaction any benefit whatsoever, nor did he guarantee the payment of said notes, the consideration having failed. Third, the court finds no cause of action against defendant P. C. Anderson. Fourth, the court found that the notes, though drawn in form of Junction Co-op. corporation notes, were, in fact, and in law, drafts upon E. C. Willardson, and that there is now due and owing upon said notes the sum of $1,900 with interest and judgment was accordingly given for that sum. Fifth, the court rendered judgment for the purchase price of the promissory notes by the plaintiff. The court also made a number of observations upon the conduct of the corporation officers acting for themselves, and at the same time pretending to act for the corporation as follows: When an officer finds his interests adverse to those of the stockholders, whose interests he represents as a director, the law requires that such an officer should take no part in a transaction where he was the beneficiary as against the corporation. The law will not allow a man to act in such dual capacity for the reason that it has been universally observed that the officer acts, on such occasions, to his own interest. Court adjourned until Monday next.

Telephone Company About Ready to Extend Line to Scofield.

Mr. Pleasant, July 27.—County Superintendent George Christensen will turn over his office to his successor, A. L. Larsen, next Monday morning, and after that he will devote himself to the study and practice of law. If he can so arrange his affairs he will go east about Sept. 1 and take up a course of study in a law school at Ann Arbor or at Washington, D. C. If he cannot do this he will enter the law office of Ferdinand Erickson of this city and study and practice until such time as he can arrange to go east. Mr. Christensen has already a fair legal knowledge, as he has studied considerable at intervals for years.

A Republican campaign sheet will be issued in this city in a week or ten days to continue until election day. N. Lund, Jr., will own and edit the sheet alone, hiring the mechanical work done at the office of the Pyramid, the local paper.

APPROPRIATION EXHAUSTED.

Sanpete County Has Paid $4,400 As Bounty on Hoppers.

Manti, July 27.—To date Sanpete county has paid out nearly $4,400 in bounty on grasshoppers, which, the writer has been informed by the county clerk, is about the limit of the surplus cash which can be appropriated by the commissioners to be disposed of for that purpose. From all reports the hoppers are settling in their work in Sevier county, and as they are pretty much cleared from the fields of the farmers will be obliged to dig up from their own pockets.

The Sanpete county auditor's report for the year 1902, which was just completed last evening, is as follows:

Real estate and farm lands	$1,256,799
Town and city lots	381,965

DEATH OF A PIONEER.

John D. Chase, Builder of the First Sawmill in Utah.

Huntington, July 25.—On the 21st inst. John D. Chase, a pioneer of 1848, and a member of the Mormon battalion, died at his home. He was born in the 18th of August, 1815, at Bristol, Addison county, Vermont. Mr. Chase and his uncle, Isaac Chase, built the first sawmill in Utah. He spent most of his life in Utah in Sanpete and Juab counties. He spent a number of years of his life as a missionary in Europe and the United States, eighty-four grandchildren and thirty-five great-grandchildren. In the year 1890 three brothers, William, Thomas, and he, he a complete line of ancestry from 1800 to the present time, for whom he has done work in the Mormon church at Salt Lake City. He has buried three wives and eleven children. For ten years he has lived with one of his daughters, Mrs. James M. Meker, in Huntington.

AGAINST SECRET SOCIETIES.

President Morrell of Cache Stake Cautions the Members.

Logan, July 27.—The regular quarterly conference of the Cache stake convened here yesterday morning. The attendance was smaller than usual, owing, perhaps, to the absence from the city of many people who are attending the Scandinavian reunion in Brigham City. During an address this morning President Morrell, president of the stake, notified the members of the church that those affiliating with any secret order hereafter will not be fellowshiped or permitted to enjoy the rights of the Mormon church. Other speakers were Isaac Smith, E. W. Brigham, E. W. Smith and M. W. Merrill.

Mrs. Lizzie Bell of Richmond was examined as a candidate for admission to the Hart last evening and adjudged insane. She will be taken to Provo today. Parker P. Christensen is expected about town today on a wild hunt for Republican politicians, who seem to be very scarce. Recently got the idea in Burlington's head that the conference being held in the tabernacle was a Democratic rally and for a time he was wildly excited.

PROVO NOTES.

Provo, July 27.—Milla, the 9-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hoyer of the Second ward, died today from diphtheria.

Lieutenant Nelson Margetts visited friends in Provo today.

Some people will accompany the Salt Lake and Provo choirs tomorrow on the Heber excursion, and it goes without saying that the free concert in the Provo tabernacle tomorrow evening, where the people will have an opportunity to hear some of Salt Lake City's fine singers, will be well attended.
